

Student preparation for work!

Contributed by Jim Leatherwood
Monday, 08 June 2009

Welcome to my blog.

I love to hear from you. If you are an educator, business representative or a person interested in the current state of education in America, your opinion is important. Perhaps you have read my book Facing the Future Together and disagree with the process for forming partnerships that is described. Perhaps you have tried to initiate partnerships and failed. On the other hand, we also like to hear about your successes. Me and the thousands of readers that regularly visit this website are anxious to hear from you.

J.L.